Course Description

The Compassionate Use of Medical Cannabis Pilot Program (aka “The Medical Marijuana Law”) significantly changed 720 ILCS 11-501, the “DUI law”. The new law removes the A-6 “Zero Tolerance” urine-based marijuana charge for medical marijuana impaired drivers and replaces it with “physical indicators of impairment” performed during the three standardized field sobriety tests. This full day police training class will provide officers with recommendations for recognizing, documenting impairment, and charging the medical marijuana impaired driver based on recommendations from the Illinois Department of Transportation sponsored Medical Marijuana Conference. The new A-7 marijuana per se law will also be discussed along with new expired breath and oral fluid drug tests currently coming on the market.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of this training, officers will be able to:

- Discuss the changes the Compassionate Use of Medical Marijuana Cannabis Pilot Program Act makes to 720 ILCS 11-501
- Relate the changes to the “Open Container Law” on transporting marijuana in a motor vehicle
- List the physical indicators of marijuana intoxication
- Relate the 2014 scientific research on marijuana indicators during performance of the three standardized field sobriety tests
- Review the recommended procedures for processing the medical marijuana impaired driver
- Describe the difference between THC, CBD, and CBN medical cannabis on driving performance
